

Guideline S5.1.10

APAC provides the following guidance regarding interpretation of aspects of Standard 5.1.10 (June 2010):

Placements can be paid or unpaid.

The reference to “one placement component” means a placement conducted at any one particular workplace. A workplace is defined as a specific worksite or physical location. Multiple placements can occur within the one organization as long as no two placements in the organization occur within the one workplace and each of the placements requires distinctly different work experiences.

The reference to “30% of the total placement requirements of the course” contains a typographical error. Placement in any specific workplace must not exceed 33% of total course placement requirements.

The remaining elements of the Standard continue to apply as stated.
